

DISTINGUISHED MEMBER OF THE PSYCHOLOGICAL OPERATIONS REGIMENT

COLONEL JACK C. GUY

Inducted October 2010

A career teacher, COL Jack C. Guy expanded his educational pursuits from the Russian/Soviet area where he began his military and civilian careers to constitutional history and law through the James Madison Fellowship Foundation where he was a Senior Fellow. A master teacher, he also coached cross country and track and field for over thirty years. His military career spanned thirty-eight years in the U.S. Army, Active and Reserve, where he spent the bulk of his career in Special Operations. He served as the Commander, 2nd Psychological Operations Group prior to retirement.

Qualified in Intelligence, Special Forces, and Psychological Operations, over the past twenty years Colonel Guy commanded Special Forces and Psychological Operations units from the Detachment to the Joint Task Force working at the tactical, operational, and strategic levels, significantly interacting with Information Operations and Strategic Communications. In 1996, he commanded a division PSYOP support element for Task Force Eagle during Operation Joint Endeavor in Bosnia. He has deployed to Afghanistan, Iraq, and Qatar, and has significant time in Europe and Africa, having traveled extensively throughout the CENTCOM area of operations in the last ten years. Since 9/11, while in the military, he worked as a PSYOP and Information Operations SME in Afghanistan, first with the ISAF Joint Command, then with the Counterinsurgency Advisory and Assistance Team (CAAT) at ISAF, and finally as CENTCOM Joint Psychological Operations Task Force Commander.

Colonel Guy has undergraduate degrees in history (Russian Area Studies) and in language education (Russian), and master's degrees in education policy and leadership and in history from the Ohio State University. Formerly a senior fellow with the James Madison Foundation, he spent the summer of 2000 in Poland and Hungary as part of a Fulbright-Hays seminar. He currently is the Program Manager at Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency, Washington, D.C.

He was invested as the Honorary Colonel of the PSYOP Regiment in a ceremony at Ft. Bragg during Regimental Week 2010.
